

2011 VRA NANCY DELAURIER AWARD CALL FOR NOMINATIONS

The Nancy DeLaurier Award, named for one of the pioneers of the visual resources profession, honors a visual resources professional for distinguished achievement in the field. "Achievement" is measured by immediate impact, and may take the form of published work, oral presentation, project management, software development, technology application, website creation, or other outstanding effort.

Nominations are now being solicited for the 2011 VRA Nancy DeLaurier Award. A dossier, consisting of a cover letter from the nominator(s) describing the nature of the achievement, the candidate's curriculum vitae, and supporting letters and documentation, will constitute an appropriate nomination.

Please ensure that writers of supporting letters are aware that the complete dossiers of award winners are deposited in the VRA Archives. Any writer may request not to have his/her submission archived.

Electronic nominations via e-mail or fax will be accepted only if all supporting documentation may be submitted in that format. Members of the VRA Awards Committee, upon reviewing submitted dossiers, may recommend up to two recipients of the Award in any given cycle; recommendations are subject to approval by the VRA Executive Board.

Although Visual Resources Association members initiate nominations, the nominees need not be members of the organization. Nominations should not include current members of the VRA Awards Committee.

Nominations are due to the VRA Awards Committee Chair at the address below no later than November 1, 2010:

Brenda MacEachern, Chair, VRA Awards Committee
Curator of Visual Resources

Nominations will be reviewed until December 1, at which point recommendations will be made to the Executive Board. Public announcement of the recipient will be made at the Members' Reception at the 2011 VRA Annual Conference, March 24-28, 2011, in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Please feel free to consult with the committee chair for advice on compiling a nomination submission.
